Are you...
1. Taking the MCAT in 2015/2016?
2. Unsure how to tackle a Reasoning Skills Test?
3. Needing assistance with critical thinking and data analysis?
4. Seeking clarification on how to connect the dots between biological, psychological and social processes?

If so, check out our Spring 2015 course suggestions to conquer the MCAT 2015!

1) ECH 4931 (Sec 001) - Research Design Methods
   This course covers ALL SEVEN skills required for the exam!

2) ISS 3930 (Sec 001) or SYA 4930 (Sec 007) - Bodies, Minds, Society & Health
   This course covers content and the four skills for Section 3 of the MCAT- Psychological & Social Foundations.

For more information, please check out the Health Professions Website, http://cas.usf.edu/healthprofessions/, or meet with your pre-health advisor.